Where diversity kindles learning

*Best of times
happy days*

Granville High School, a school of many facets, serves the needs of every pupil. Here is where we develop skills, express opinions, and set goals. The crowded hallways, silent library, informal classes, and week-end activities are but a few of its qualities to be remembered. Granville's main objective is to help young people to improve personal, family, and community living now and in the future.

Sights and sounds spell Granville

From "oom-pa-pa" to "Oklahoma" . . . the full range of sights and sounds is seen and heard by every student. After the last bell rings, hundreds of Granville students head for various destinations where another phase of their education is expanded. . . where there is an opportunity to meet and better know fellow classmates, and a chance to pursue individual interests.

Numerous outlets provide for student interests

School is over. After school athletics, clubs, and activities occupy our time, teaching us what cannot be found in textbooks.

While language, math, and history train our minds for higher learning, co-curricular activities open new scopes of interest to enrich our lives. Thus we advance not only mentally but socially and physically as well. Our activities and their functions are considered as "classrooms" of another sort. Here we learn the lessons of sportsmanship, of victory, and of leadership. Here we educate for living.

ACADEMICS

Although a teacher's day is extremely full, Granville faculty members find time to acquaint themselves with departments other than their own. This diversified interest shown by the faculty is evidence of their never-ending search for knowledge. Their search for knowledge, however, extends beyond the bounds of Granville. They meet professionally with other educators locally and on a national scale.

of our school system...

Progress is the primary objective of the Granville administration under the guidance of Mr. Joseph Klucarich, Mr. Donald Rennie, and Mr. Donald McDonell. Working closely with the five man board of education, these men see that the educational needs of the student body are never neglected. Heartily endorsing a program of varied courses and specialized education, the administration and board work diligently to provide for each student's needs in the best possible way.

The cafeteria staff includes Delores La Rose, Eileen Campbell, Jean Van Alstine, Jane Parks, and Eleanore Oehme.

Accuracy is one of the main objectives in the mechanical drawing class.

Varied subjects broaden

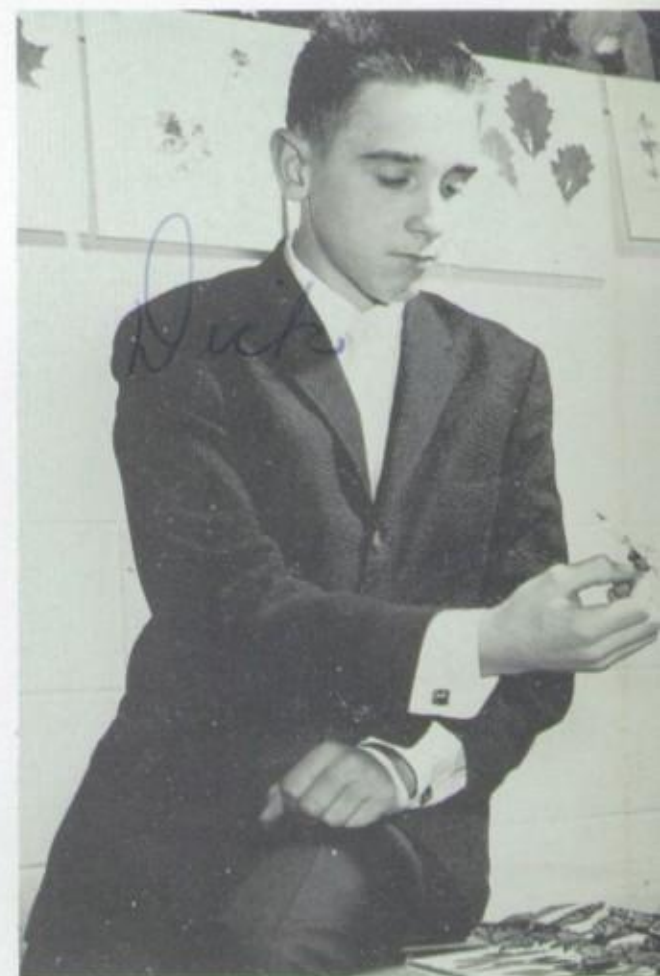

Dennis Jacobs uses force in trying to get his point across to Dennis Koepsel, Bill Brooks and Jim Van Altena in a World Problems debate.

How to operate a balance is one of the first things science students learn.

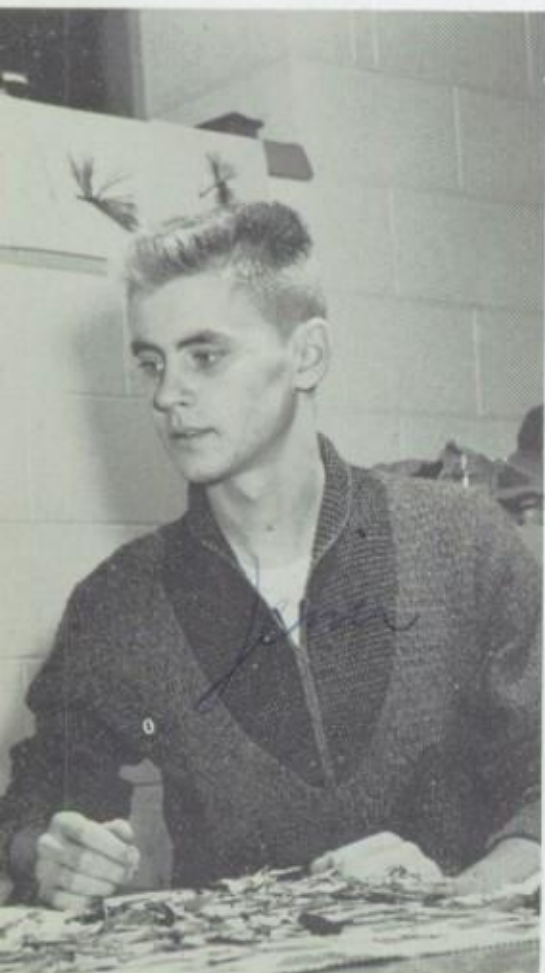

Richard Goerg and Jim Garfield examine one of the many specimens they collected for their conservation project.

The United States didn't look the same in 1821 as it does today, John Hartzell points out to Sandy Sequenz and Danna Dowe.

Mr. Kent sets the tempo at one of the regular band practice sessions.

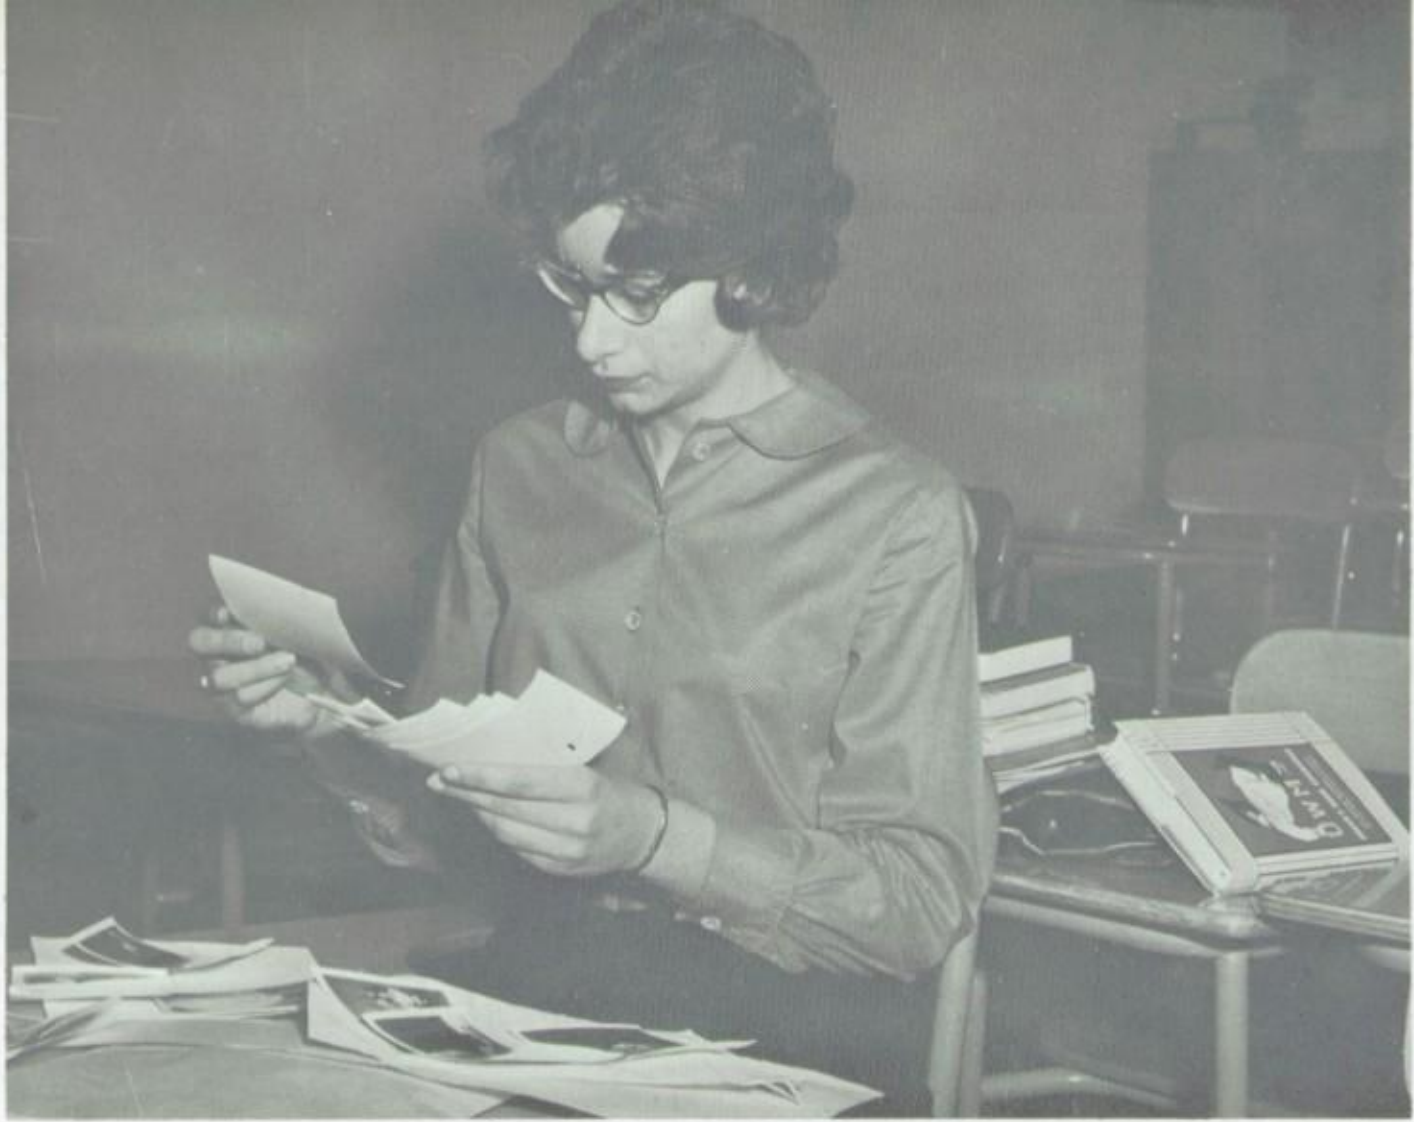

ACTIVITIES

Activities expand the horizons beyond the narrow confines of formal education. Students at Granville are offered these extra curricular activities which they may join to increase and broaden their experience. For the feeling of accomplishment leads to greater effort and success.

Sue Jach selects the appropriate pictures for the sports' pages.

Co-editors Janice Stark and Judy Hainacki discuss the annual pictures with Ruth Hill

New format introduced by 1962 Falcon

The Annual Staff puts forth every effort to help the students remember all of the interesting events of the past year at Granville. The work is done by students under the direction of Mr. Geisert. The cooperation of the staff is appreciated, especially when deadlines must be met. The reward is the completion of a good yearbook that can be shown with pride. This year the staff worked closely with the publishers in developing a format much different from those of the past.

The staff works diligently to prepare the annual pages.

Hard work, long hours produce "Talon"

Ellen Bull, Heather Taylor, Jon Thompson, Richard Hanke, Patricia Schaefer, Steve Pfeffer, Dennis Bernard. 2nd row: Jane Epke, Roberta Getzlaff, Loraine Kreznar, Karen DeBuhr, Suzanne Boone, Cheryl

Petri, Donna Schultz. 3rd row: Carol Johnson, Vivian Kreznar, Barbara Rezell, Kathy Singer, Laural Petri, Edith Dodd, Jean Martin, Sandy Kiesel.

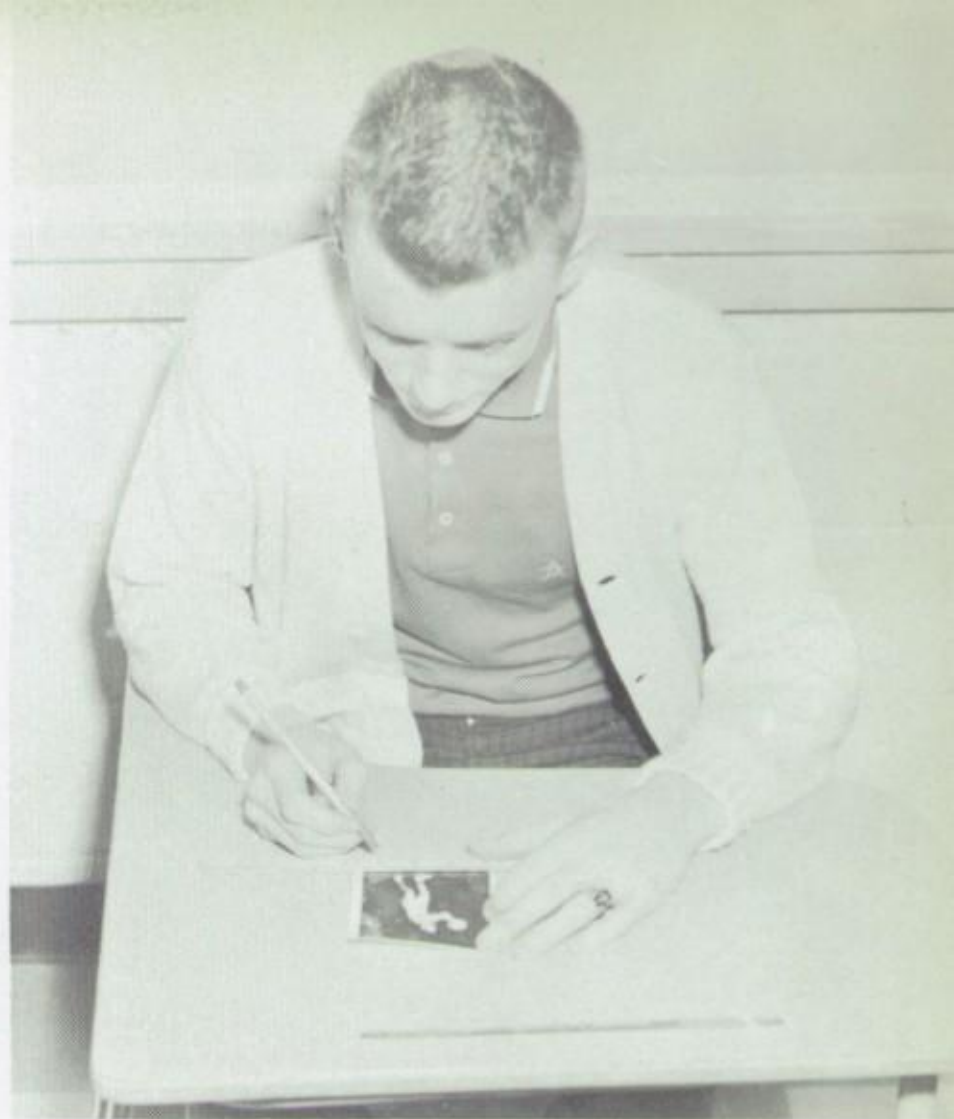

Staff members distribute papers every six weeks to students

"First with the News" is the Talon. Granville's school paper, edited by Carol Johnson under the direction of Mr. Malone, tries to keep us informed of all of the events that transpire as the weeks go by.

The staff puts many long hours of work into the production of this paper, in order to give the students a chance to keep up with all the social, athletic, and academic news.

One of the sport editor's tedious moments

It takes skill and brains to put together our paper.

Members of the staff interview Paul Case for a feature article in the Talon.

Charon Chudy, Carl Kupersmith, Karen Hays, Herman Anderson, John Rousseau, Ken Selesky, Terry Ball, Lynn Scheir. 2nd row: John Schellpfeffer, Julia Mancini, Lynn Joerres, Connie Herbst, Sandy

Kreuger, Bonnie Behee, Kathy Lindner. Bottom Row: Sandra Studebaker, Doug Giffin, Ron Hollnagel, Sandy Schneider.

Council voices student opinions

Off go several representatives of Student Council to the State Convention.

Student Council members are elected to represent the entire student body. It is their duty to make decisions along various lines in regard to activities, social and economic; as well as, practicing the functions of a democratic form of government.

We are proud of our Student Council, which is supervised by Mr. Michaels. One of this year's worthwhile projects is the refreshment stand, which we hope will do a great deal in financing a new Foreign Exchange Student in 1962-1963.

Scholarship brings national honors

The National Music Honor Society carefully chooses its members on their music ability. This society tries to encourage the students to appreciate and take part in music appreciation in school, church, or community affairs.

The greatest honor which any student at Granville can attain is to be chosen a member of the Falcon Chapter of the National Honor Society. Selection for this group is based on leadership, scholarship, and service.

The Audio-Visual Members, under the supervision of Miss Scheel, prove to be a great help to teachers by showing movies scheduled for various classes. They operate and distribute all audio-visual equipment. This training with electrical equipment will prove to be valuable in future years.

Mr. Wiegele is responsible for the leadership given to the members of the Photo Club. These photographers are given the advantage of learning how to take good pictures, as well as, how to develop them. The results can be seen by looking at many of the candid pictures in our yearbook. The Annual staff would like to thank the Photo Club for their cooperation.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB:

Hall monitors serve the school by inspecting student passes and directing traffic between classes. Equally important, the Library Club provides assistance to those students wishing to increase their literary skills.

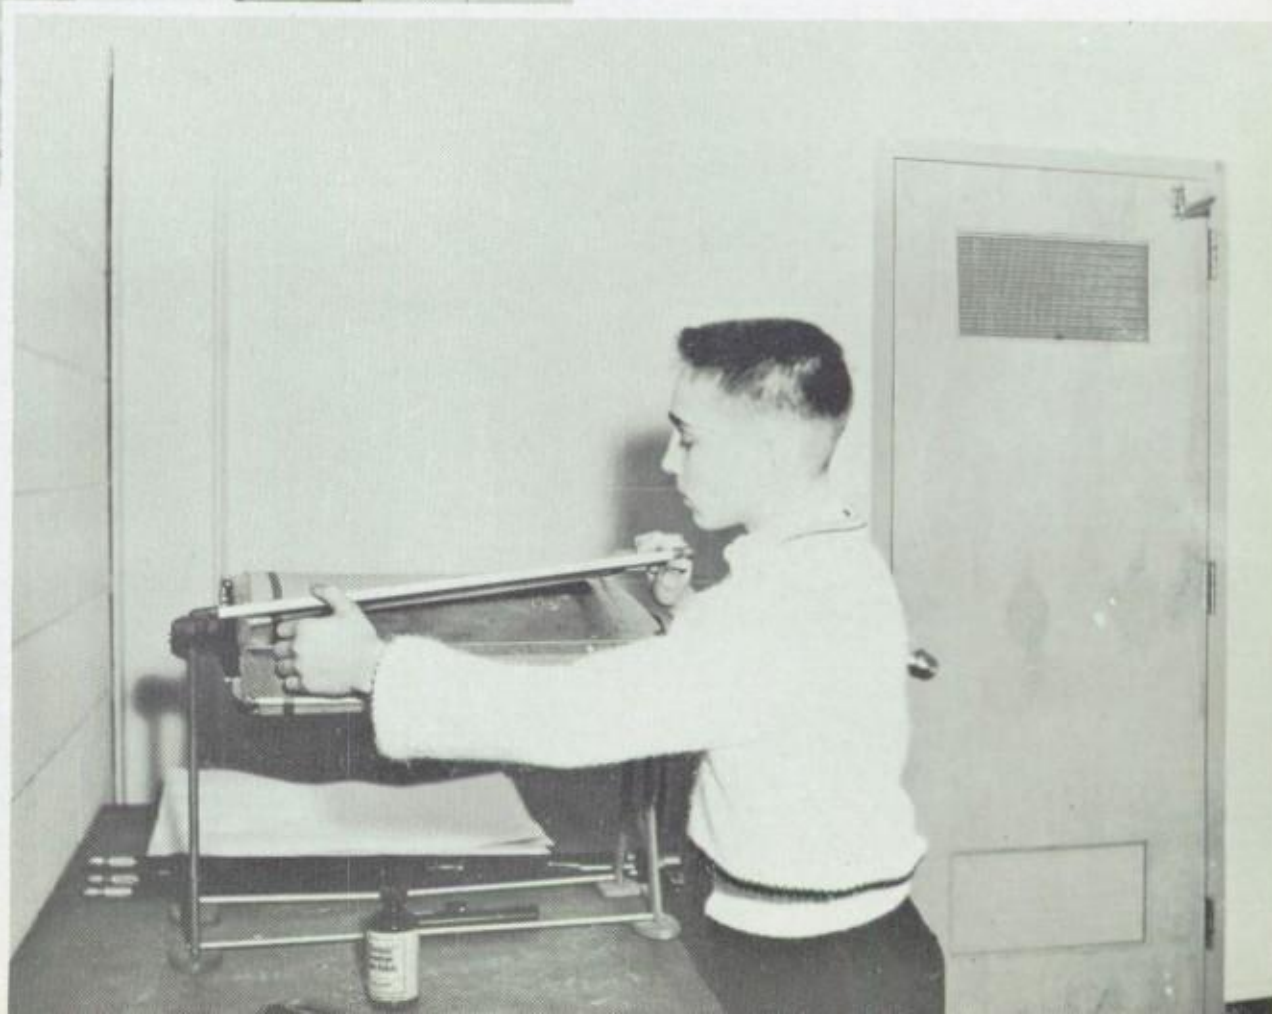

HALL MONITORS:

They're on their mark and set to be marksman.

Action is by-

To learn respect for their rifles and to gain knowledge of safe and proper handling of firearms, are the objectives of the Rifle Club. Mr. Brey serves as the club's advisor.

All of the students of Granville have at one time or another heard the wonderful music of Granville's Dance Band, which is under the supervision of Mr. Confare. One of the most exciting moments for the dance band members was the accomplishment of placing third in the annual dance band carnival held at the Milwaukee Boys' Club.

Camera, lights....action

The Dramatics Club offers its members the opportunity to learn the principles of make-up and costuming, along with the techniques of acting, reading and interpreting plays. Along with this training comes a keener understanding of human nature, and a fuller appreciation of good literature, which will prove to be beneficial to the members in later years.

The Forensics Club is comprised of students who aim to gain a better understanding and appreciation of effective speaking. It consists of such things as oratory, speeches, declamations, interpretative reading and argumentation in other forms. By working in Forensics, the students improve their speaking ability and gain confidence in themselves.

You're getting through to us, Joanne

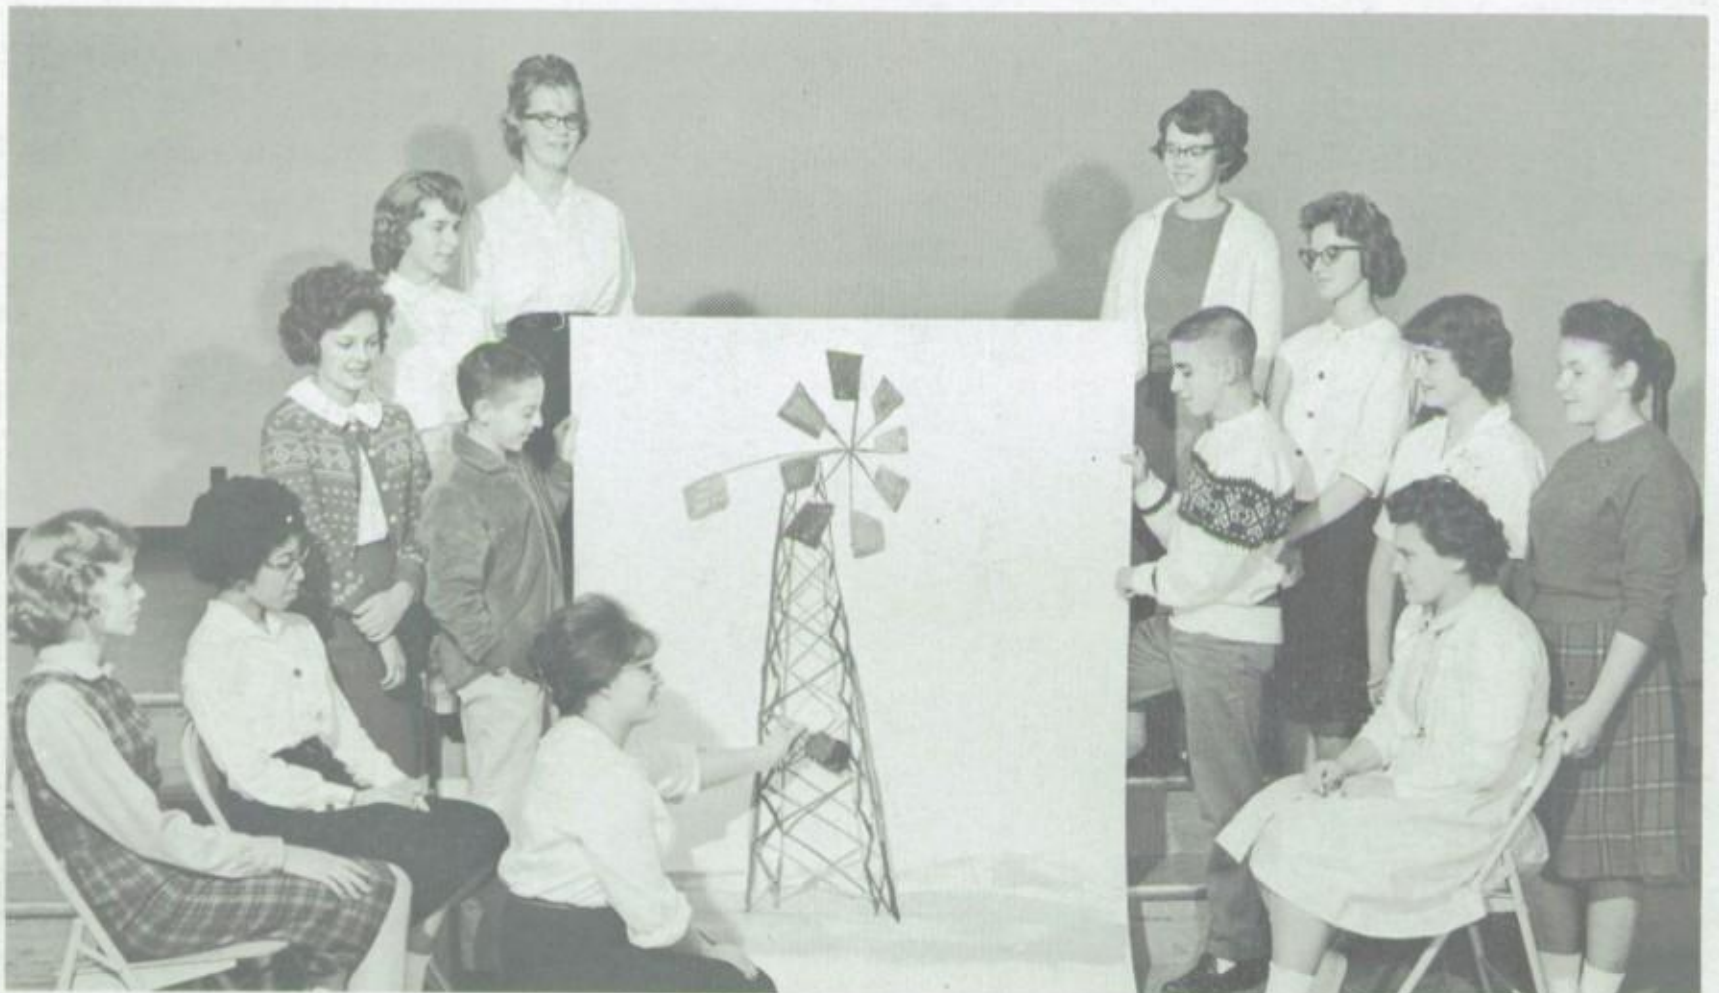

FINE ARTS:

The Fine Arts Club teaches its members to understand the values of the Fine Arts of music, art, drama, and literature.

Many thanks are given to the members of the Art Service Club for their valuable services in the form of beautiful decorations for our dances, in addition to the posters and other types of art work requested by various clubs and classes.

Many boys join the Weight Lifting Club because they have the desire to improve the condition of their body. This sport tests the endurance and physical fitness of its members through the use of the various types of equipment. The result of this exercise and hard work can often be seen in the building up or trimming down of the participants.

The girls who are members of the Drill Team have been doing an outstanding performance under the direction of the drill team sergeant, Sandy Dalton. They appear at many of the basketball games dressed in our school colors to perform the various intricate marches, which they have designed and perfected after many hours of hard work.

DRILL TEAM:

Future Homemakers gain knowledge and experience that will be put to use when they become future homemakers. They are taught to be better and more efficient in home-making, thereby improving their standards of living as well as the community in which they live.

Our Future Nurses of America have the welfare of the community at heart. Because of this, they are members of this worthwhile group, who gain experience by working at baby clinics, helping in the community X-ray program, and also preparing people for shots given at our school.

Preparing for the future are the Future Business Leaders of America.

Fun featured--futures viewed

Future Teachers of America are the willing helpers of both students and teachers. They offer to tutor students who are having difficulty with various curricular subjects, and also render their services to any teacher who needs help in correcting tests or any other type of work that may arise.

The FBLA Club has been organized to produce competent business leaders. This club seeks to create interest and understanding in the various business occupations, as well as, to prepare its members to fulfill the positions to the best of their ability.

Concert, pep bands receive acclaim

Our band at Granville is one of the most active organizations and consists of students interested in music. There are various groups of bands designed to meet each student's ability. Everyone at Granville is familiar with the Pep Band, which plays at all home games and attempts to boost our school spirit.

Some of the highlights of the year for the band are the staging of the winter and spring concerts open to the public, along with field trips to various schools. The training received, while practicing and participating in these programs, develops high standards in music taste and music appreciation.

Our band is breath taking.

Our football season turned out quite successful this past year. The varsity won four out of eight and the freshmen won five out of the six games they played. The boys practiced often to improve their skills. At the games they brought the results of this practice forward. We hope next year is as promising as this year was.

Even though this is only the second year of gymnastics at Granville, the team has proved to be an outstanding one. Their record for this year was five wins and only one loss. The freshmen also proved their abilities by winning four meets and losing none. At the Marquette Open we totaled 33.5 while Boys Tech won the meet with 35. We received third place at the A.A.U. and at the Granville Invitational we won with 158.5 points.

What's been going on behind the scenes lately? The cheerleaders have been quite active this past season. They appeared in their new uniforms, black jumpers and white blouses, a few months after school started. They also held a cheerleading clinic and practiced after school almost every night.

Whenever we played other schools, our girls acted as hostesses and served refreshments to the visiting cheerleaders. Usually before big games they put on pep assemblies where they boosted our ego and taught us new cheers. And we can't forget the entertaining skits they performed for us. We think they're doing a fine job.

SOCIAL LIFE

There are many special events occurring throughout the year that capture the interest and imagination of the entire student body. While some people remember many little incidents that others consider unimportant, these special events appeal to all. The colorful spring formal, the exciting homecoming activities, the interesting AFS program all add to the many-sided picture of Granville High School.

During the weekend of October 6, Granville High School celebrated its second annual Homecoming. The Senior Class and the Student Council were responsible for scheduled activities. The evening preceding, the council sponsored the Donut Dunk for Seniors and alumni. Friday the game and dance were held.

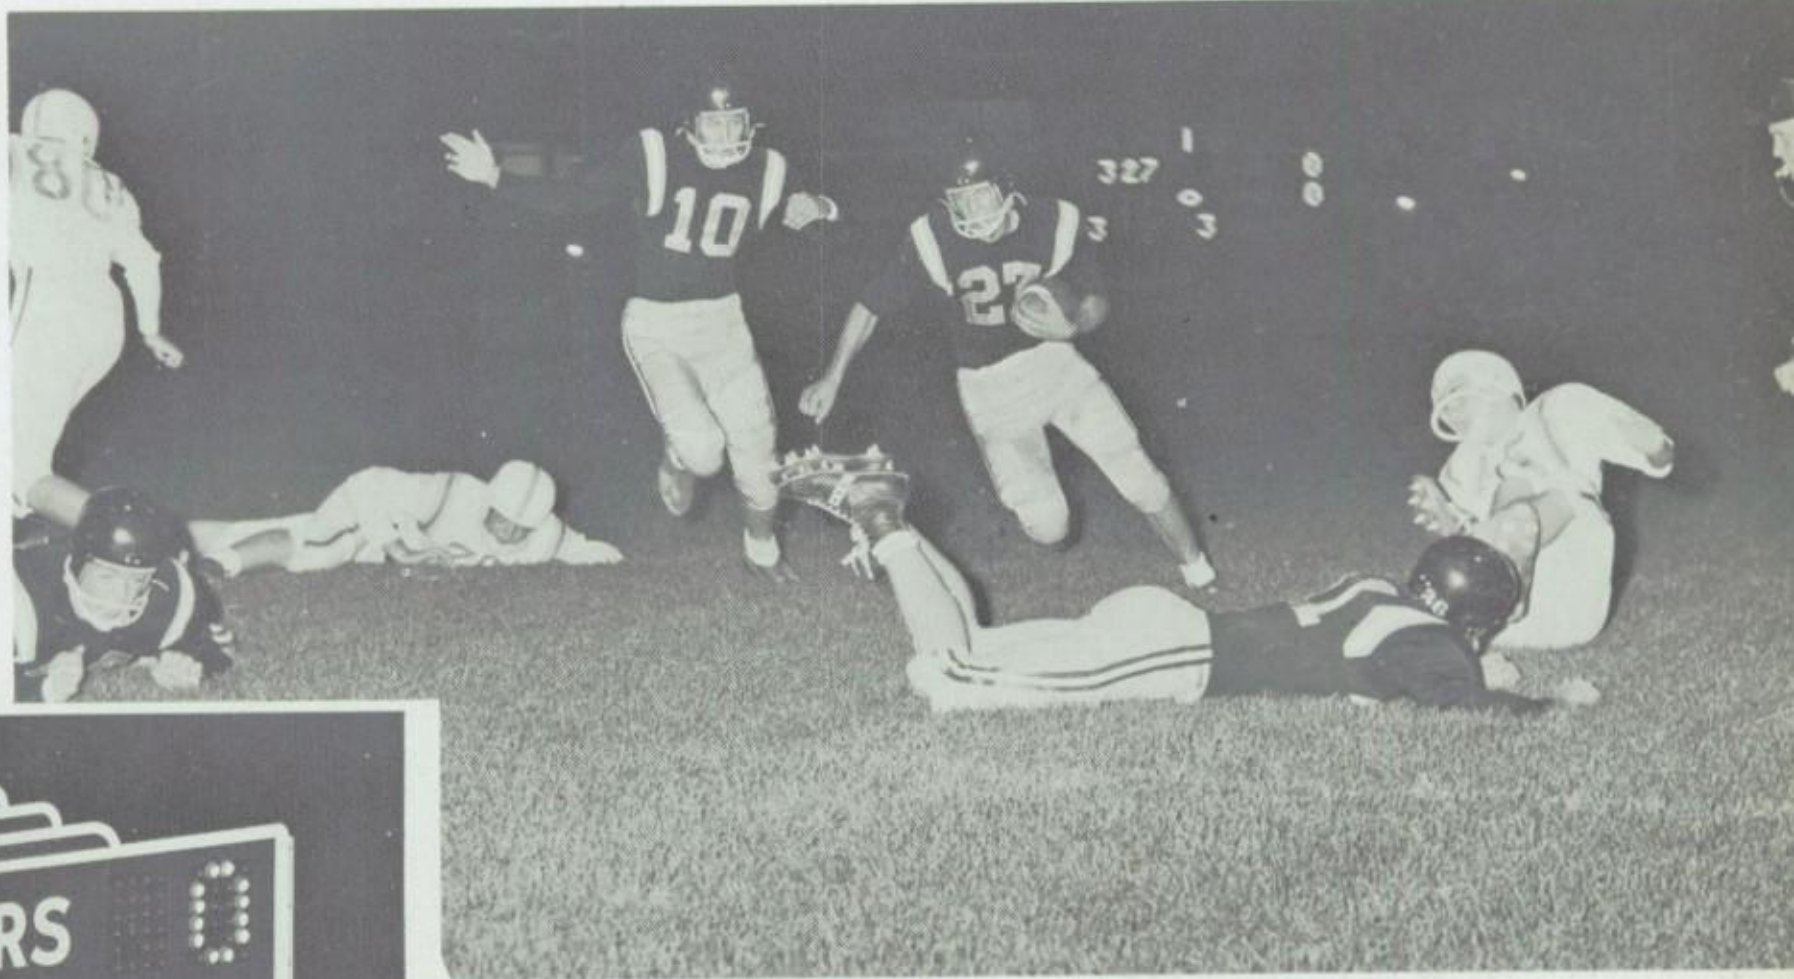

Climax of Granvilles homecoming weekend was the semi formal dance following the game. Couples danced the evening away to the tunes of Harry Rothmann's Band.

A common scene at the Donut Dunk was that of present seniors conferring with the alumni.

The decorations, featuring the popular water fountain, added to the festive mood of the promgoers as they danced to the strains of the theme song. Friday night dances climax week

Let's twist again.

Untouchables raid Granville.

In a few short hours on Friday's Granville High School changes from an institution of learning to an exciting world of music. Happy students celebrating the end of the week perfect new dance steps and spend hours chatting with their friends.

Probably the most interesting dance held during the year was the Student Council dance on May 11th, which honored our foreign exchange student, Julia Mancini, and several other AFS students from the area.

Faculty joins in the fun, too.

Curley and Laurie celebrate both their wedding and Oklahoma's statehood.

An outstanding event in the high school year was the presentation of "Oklahoma"; a musical first for Granville. The Fine Arts Department should be commended on a job well done.

STUDENTS

To the students at Granville, school means more than just going to classes each day for four years. Every year brings celebrations, class projects, and traditions which add to the classroom aspect of student life and also bring us closer to our most important goal, graduation.

As freshmen we experience for the first time student government in action. We begin to realize that we will have to set the examples for future classes to follow.

In our sophomore year we are into the swing of things and look forward to celebrations such as "pigtail day" when we can display our cleverness and originality and outdo those upperclassmen.

Our Junior year introduces some of the aspects of deeper learning. We are faced with our first major term paper and the library becomes one of our closest friends.

Senior year is one of mixed emotions. Preparing for graduation, our thoughts are mostly of venturing into the world as adults but walking down the aisle we will look back on these eventful years and realize that we will miss this type of life we have grown so accustomed to.

Seniors: quiet times and serious moments

As graduation draws near students are measured for their caps and gowns.

The Class of '62 has followed the tradition of previous senior classes in being student leaders. The class has set an example of loyalty and hard work for their successors to follow. They showed this by winning the March of Dimes contest this winter.

This year has been a very busy one for the seniors. On November 1, having been handicapped by less than two months of preparation, the class held their Senior Ball, "Canadian Sunset."

One of the final projects of the class of '62 was the senior class play, "Deadly Ernest." Many hours of work were spent in preparing for it and it was an experience never to be forgotten by the seniors who participated.

Lavender and white have been chosen as the class colors. The class flower is the gardenia and the class song is "Memories Are Made of This." The seniors are planning to enter various types of work, schools, and careers upon their graduation on June 7, and we hope they will take with them their class motto, "Out of school life into life's school."

Ambitious Juniors tackle eventful year

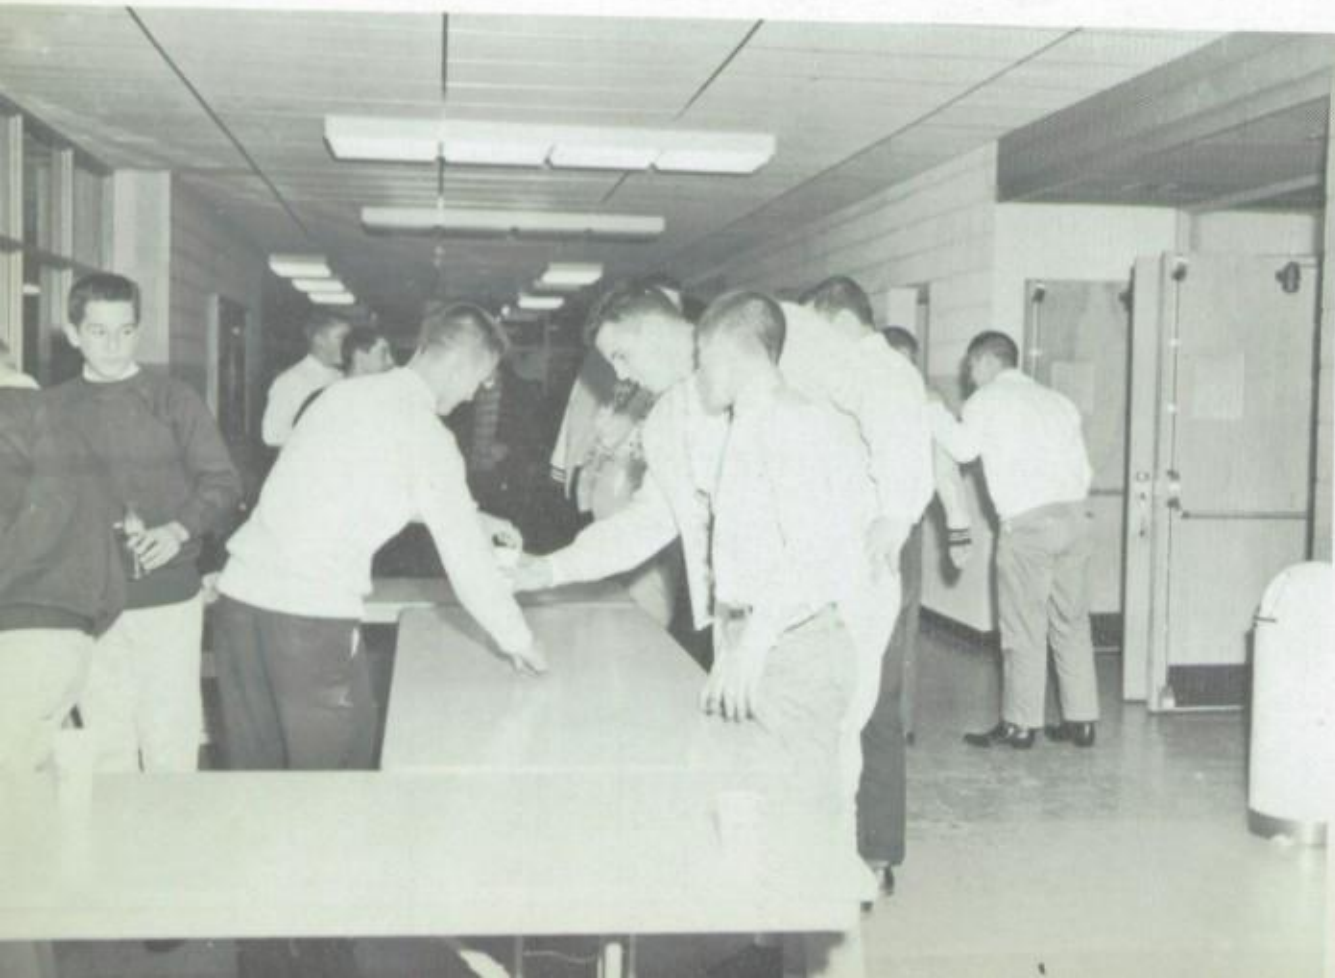

"Our Class is Tops!" This slogan exemplifies the spirit of the Class of '63.

Junior class activities were underway before school reopened. The class sponsored the "Harvest Moon Dance," welcoming all undergraduates back for the 1961-62 school year. Profits from concession stand sales at athletic events was another tribute to the dynamic salesmanship of the Juniors. With the intention of making their prom the greatest in Granville High's history, preparations were begun in early November. "Island Paradise" was the theme which was carried out in Hawaiian motif. The post prom, held at Tripoli Country Club, featured a Luau to continue the gay mood of the promgoers.

Examples set by the Class of '63 will serve to inspire the many classes to follow.

The class '64, under the leadership of Terry Ball, President, Bob Anderson, Vice-President, Sandy Krueger, Treasurer, and Connie Herbst, Secretary, began their Sophomore year in "high gear" and kept right on "rolling" after that.

We entered a spirited pure Arabian stallion in the Homecoming parade and would have captured first place had it not been for the fact that the judges discovered the "this stallion" was only a costume-shop imitation with two of the Soph Class's finest concealed inside. Other activities included the Thanksgiving dance, a doughnut sale, and one of the most "swinging" dances held at GHS in years, the "Twisting 60's". All the twisted sacroiliacs still haven't been straightened out from that one!

Sadie Hawkins' Dance proves to be a new experience for Freshmen.

Frosh learn through new experiences

In the fall of '61 over 300 Freshmen descended on Granville High School to discover what secrets lay in its many classrooms. This, the largest class in Granville's history, became known for its quality as well as quantity.

Academically, we consistently placed the names of many freshmen on the Honor Roll and our extracurricular efforts were recognized throughout the school. According to many comments, our "Jingle Bell Rock" was one of the high lights of the year.

Under the direction of our conscientious officers the class of '65 gladly accepted the challenge offered by the upper classmen and we will continue working to maintain the high standards of our school.

Eager-beaver dance decorators display enthusiasm typical of freshmen class throughout year.

In conclusion

This year the annual staff presents a vivid picture to the students of the many aspects of student life at Granville High School. We usually think of school as strictly an institution of learning and seldom realize the numerous facets of school life within these halls. Throughout this Falcon our staff has tried to express this variety, and we hope that this yearbook will bring lasting memories to the student body, especially the seniors.

Without the conscientious help of Mr. Wiegeler and the Photo Club many of our deadlines would not have been made, and many features of the annual would be lacking. We thank them for their understanding and patience.

We also wish to thank Mr. Phil LaLeike of the Norman King Company for his assistance and advice, and our photographers from Walinger Studio of Chicago.

Dear Bob;

Best of everything to you! You are so attractive & such a nice sort of a guy that you shouldn't have too much difficulty in life. Good advice to you — "Be what you is — don't ever be what you aint!"

Love
Aunt Carol.

To Bob.
 To a real sharp fellow freshness. Who is a wow with all of the girls. Good luck in the future.
 See you at Custer
 next year

To Bob,
 Good luck in the future!
 As ever,
 Sam

To Bob
 To a real nice guy in my science
 class and good luck
 at Custer you'll need it "Just kidding"

To Bob
 To a nice guy who saved my life a lot of times. I'll be in since meet you Danny

Dear Bob,
To a real goodhearted guy, I really think a lot of. If I would have known you weren't only kidding that one time, I would have taken you up on that. I really miss ya! You're helpful next year, I'm gonna miss ya! (but sometimes helped me in.) You have a wonderful personality, I hope your future, turns out half as wonderful as you did - Good Luck at Custer, and have a good time with Diane. (she's a wonderful gal - so is Dennis) Whenever you have a little spare time, call me up (if Diane lets you) (F1-5-5542) I'd love to talk to you.
May God Bless you,
Love,
~~Dorothy~~

P.S. I wasn't really mad at you that one time! (Just a little peeved.)
